

The solution is simple

Detailed table of contents as summary of the book

Short table of contents	1
Introduction	4
The solution is simple	4
Chapter 1: The approach in 10 basic principles	7
01 - A bottom-up move towards change	7
A radically new strategy	7
Overproduction and overconsumption	9
Revive small-scale local development	12
We are the only main actors	13
Principle 1: bottom-up movement	17
02 - A true empowerment	17
Who has power?	17
Local economy and empowerment	20
Top-down strategy as a complement	22
Principle 2: local empowerment	24
03 - Hurdles on the path of liberation	24
Guilt versus awareness	24
Knowing the illness	25

Detailed table of contents as summary of the book

Less or more?	26
The hurdle of our addictions	28
Principle 3: the hurdle of our addictions	29
04 - A new anthropology as a positive gain	29
Two aims: the tipping point and the quantum leap	29
A new anthropology	31
Principle 4: we need a new anthropology	32
05 - Wealth vs equity: the twist of money	32
The huge contrast of wealth in our world	32
Livelihood depending on time and skills ... or not	34
Money as speculation	36
The impact of money as a systemic way of thinking	37
Speculation with time and power	39
The illusion of ownership	41
Principle 5: equity and generosity	44
06 - The essential role of the quality factor	45
A society obsessed by quantities	45
Qualities and processes as essential factors	47
The invisible absent dimension	49
A deafening silence	51
Principle 6: quality (or, the missing quality)	53
07 - The crisis of our way of living together	54
The leading trend of domination and exploitation	54
Our democracy between Charybdis and Scylla	56
The totalitarian model (Scylla)	57
The virtual model of fiction (Charybdis)	60
The need for a creative alternative	63
Principle 7: living together	64

The solution is simple

08 - A necessary turn-around of mind	64
A new vision, rooted in a new understanding of life	64
A philosophical or spiritual perspective	67
Three necessary transformations in attitude	71
Principle 8: insight	73
09 - A new understanding of identity	73
What is a race?	74
What defines a tribe, social group or race?	77
The false divide and the erroneous justifying twist	77
What is identity?	80
The obvious process of hybridisation	83
Apartheid, from segregation to contempt or “otherness”	84
Principle 9: identity	86
10 - Dialogue, Truth and Reconciliation	86
A new form of dialogue based on complementarity	86
Truth and Reconciliation: the dialogue for peace	89
The way to enlightenment	91
Principle 10: Truth and reconciliation (dialogue)	93

The core of the crisis in a nutshell 93

PART 1: THE STRATEGY 99

Chapter 2: The strategy in 40 points 100

Climate change calls for new ways of living	101
01 – The tipping point	101
02 – A new way of living	101
03 – The laws of nature	102
04 – (In)equity	102
05 – All in one	102

Detailed table of contents as summary of the book

We are the main actors who have to initiate change	103
06 – Equity as the first condition	103
07 – We are the real actors	103
08 – We have to initiate the change	104
09 – Pressure on governments	104
10 – Corporations	105
11 – One choice is one vote	105
12 – Empowerment	106
13 – Consensus	106
14 – The Tipping Point Alliance	107
15 – Quantum leap	108
A fundamental change of mentality	108
16 – A radical change of mentality	108
17 – Reversing the inversions (untwists)	109
18 – Untwist 1 – True value of the Commons	109
19 – Untwist 2 – Rising to our responsibilities	110
20 – Untwist 3 – Inclusiveness	110
21 – Untwist 4 – Indigenous peoples	111
22 – Untwist 5 – Sense of meaning and truth	111
23 – Untwist 6 – Relationships	112
24 – Untwist 7 – Role of economy	112
25 – Untwist 8 – Use of money	113
26 – Untwist 9 – Investments	113
27 – Untwist 10 – Technology	114
28 – Our addiction to comfort and pleasure	115
We will recreate a sustainable local community	115
29 – Re-create a local economy	115
30 – Before ten years, with high targets	116
31 – Progressive disconnection	116
32 – Local citizen councils	117
33 – Integration with natural cycles	117

The solution is simple

34 – Food supply	118
35 – Leave them in the ground	118
36 – Community-owned energy production and storage	119
37 – Variety of trades of small scale	120
38 – Small workshops producing solar cars	121
39 – Local currency	121
40 – A community-owned financial institution	122

Chapter 3: The tools 124*

---

An Alliance: unity in diversity 125*

The basic concept of Convention 126*

An initial Convention of 10 options 127*

01 – Integrating our activities into natural cycles	129
02 – Minimising our ecological footprint	129
03 – Practicing simplicity and generosity	130
04 – Contributing to the common wealth	130
05 – Resisting the negative impacts of technology and market	131
06 – Voting with our feet	131
07 – Standing for the rights of minorities	132
08 – Promoting consensus in community	133
09 – Living in the truth	133
10 – Questioning ideology	134
Summary	134

The Hubs for solidarity-mutuality 135*

Some realistic examples in 7 initial actions 137*

1 – Support a local currency (Option 4)	137
2 – Discard wastes and packaging (Option 6)	137
3 – Repair and require long-term warranties (Option 5)	137

Detailed table of contents as summary of the book

4 – Produce solar cars locally (Option 1)	138
5 – Connect with First Nations people (Option 7)	138
6 – Take a stand as a community (Option 8)	138
7 – Restrict advertising clutter (Option 5)	138

Chapter 4: Catalogue of possible options (examples) 139

What the options are	139
A) Nature, economy, science and technology	141
01 – Integration into natural cycles	141
02 – Economy at the service of all, through relationships	144
03 – Beyond restrictively rational science and technology	148
B) Diversity, consensus and the search for meaning	151
04 – A mature expression of diversity	151
05 – Community and consensus as a shared vision	152
06 – The search for the meaning of life	153
C) Truth, consciousness and sacredness	155
07 – The need for a subjective vision	155
08 – The path of liberation to higher consciousness	157
09 – Integration into the sacredness of the Universe	159
D) Starting a move towards change	159
10 – An end to resignation and passivity	159
11 – Our relationship with evil and suffering	160
12 – Truth and reconciliation	161

The solution is simple

PART 2: A SEARCH FOR MEANING 163

Preamble: Sharing my own search for meaning 164

00 – A much needed synthesis between wisdom and know-how 166

- Science and wisdom: two disconnected paths we need to combine and integrate into a wider synthesis 166
- Market has replaced relationships; technology has replaced meaning 167
- Climate change as a visualisation of global inequity 168
- The main obstacle for change is our incapacity to break our resignation and to make choices 169

Chapter 5: Our rootedness in truth 171

01 – Integration into the perspective of the Universe 171

- A leading Intention orients the Universe towards a meaningful yet mysterious aim 171
- An invisible but essential energy: the Ground of Being, Source of all life 173
- Integration is necessary to adapt to the laws of the Universe 174
- The book of the Universe reveals Reality as Mystery and Graciousness 174
- True love cannot impose itself: it chooses to be self-giving and powerless 175

02 – A vision that is subjective and yet in harmony 177

- We are born in a specific, limited context that marks our starting point and opens further onto the vastness of Truth 177
- We inherit the wisdom of previous generations' experience 178
- The many threatening twists of inherited teaching need to be undone 178

Detailed table of contents as summary of the book

Our respective paths consist in personalising our heritage through questioning and experience	179
The role of religion and spirituality: both explanation and transformation, but mainly transformation	181
We need to forge a personal vision as a wider frame for our life	184
The path of freedom does not consist in doing what we please, but in living in the truth	185
The perception of two cohabiting realities	186
Metanoia: the radical turn-around of the mind	188
The turn-around of one's way of living	190
03 – The path of liberation to higher consciousness	193
We have to make a clear choice between egocentric comfort and the search for truth	193
Permanent change calls us to make a clear choice for personal transformation	194
Step 1: knowing oneself and accepting our own “pathologies”	194
Step 2: distinguishing our false self from our True Self	195
Step 3: beyond desires, discerning what is a construct of the mind and what are our true needs	197
Growing from egocentric to hetero-centric vision, into higher (or deeper) consciousness	198
The path to higher consciousness should lead, as a priority, to inner transformation	200
The urge to become the witness of our own body, mind, emotions, thoughts and reactions	202
The awareness of a pure state of being brings inner peace and joy	203
The mysterious essence of life	204

Chapter 6: Our embodiment in the world 205

04 – Integrating into natural cycles; belonging to a wider body 205

- Relationships, not material issues, are the true substance of life 205
- Simplicity as the radical way of stripping the superfluous from life, and as the root of true generosity 206
- The Universe as a book that shows us the path towards diversity, subjectivity, interdependence, meaning and depth 207
- The laws of diversity and unity of the Universe, and the laws of interdependence of life 208
- Six main major laws of nature: intelligence, generosity, change, difference, cooperation and unity 209
- We need to integrate into the whole and adapt to these laws if we wish to know harmony 210
- The necessary integration of all our activities into natural cycles (resources, wastes, energy) 211
- The three measures of adaptation: integrating, finding harmony and living in radical simplicity 213
- Limitation in quantity: the same equal average basic needs for all people on Earth 216
- Limitation as quality when radical simplicity means not less but more 217
- Land as a guide that shapes us; landscape as a visualisation of our society 218
- Our body as an open book about ourselves and how we live 219
- Our body as a guide that tells us the path out of suffering 220
- New practical ways of living: healthy food, shared knowledge, slow mobility, beauty, experience 221

05 – Economy at the service of all 222

- The fundamental generosity of nature and society: most resources are offered free of charge 222
- The Commons as our common wealth: knowledge, care, wisdom, space, time, silence, nature 223

Detailed table of contents as summary of the book

The twist of profit leads to overproduction, which destroys our quality of life	224
The many forms of work should allow the expression of our respective creativity	225
Livelihood as a duration, independent from work efficiency	226
When money is truly a commodity: my ox in my pocket	228
When money becomes a tool for speculation: the price defines the value	229
When money becomes power, domination and exploitation by the wealthy become the rule	230
When finance becomes power: speculation and stock exchange as institutional forms of robbery	231
When money becomes illusion: the creation of cash as fictive material wealth	233
Each choice is a vote: we elect by plebiscite what we consume, use, promote, do	234
Marketing is based on whitewashing corrupt goods produced in unjust conditions	235
Our empowerment is proportional to our inner freedom	236
We are all responsible for the world we shape	236
We have to choose between egocentric accumulation and relationships of reciprocity	237
The power of attraction (love) and the energy of relationships (spirit)	237
What are we and what do we want to be: takers, leavers, receivers or givers?	238
Radical generosity as the means to shape our relationships	239
06 – Beyond restrictively rational science and technology	239
The three stages of evolution: from pre-rational to rational to post-rational	239
Enlightenment and rationalism as blocks to further evolution	241
The great confusion between pre- and post-rational stages	241
Scientific materialism as mental imprisonment	242

The solution is simple

Daring to take the next step in evolution: towards world-centric and post-rational perception	243
To a higher level by the cooperation of complementary approaches: science, culture, art, religion	244
The failure of technology: simplistic meanings and universal solutions	244
Our institutions are designed like machines although they are living cultural and human dynamics	246
When tools make us slaves instead of serving a shared quality of life	248
The fascinating power of computers becomes the source of an illusory world built on pretence	250

Chapter 7: Synthesis in diversity 252

07 – A mature expression of diversity	252
Domination is based on the fabric of the victim and the ritual of sacrifice	252
Search for harmony and awareness of the divine has fostered the wisdom of traditional societies	254
We define our own identity through the monolithic view of “us and the others”	255
Welcoming strangers allows wealth distribution and a richer shared experience	257
The complex process of discovering plurality as the integration of diversity in unity	258
Diversity inside the community as a pattern for integrating minorities	259
Diversity, because of differing levels of consciousness, does not mean that all is equal	260
The growth in consciousness only has meaning if it translates into transformation and love	261
Growth into maturity as self-discovery, or discovering the pearl hidden within us	261

Detailed table of contents as summary of the book

Totalitarian systems based on alienation vs community projects grounded on personalisation	263
08 – Consensus as a shared social vision	266
The land makes the whole network of relationships visible, as present reality and future potential	266
Consensus: a form of compromise in expressing our diversity, cooperation and empowerment	267
Human rights are fundamental, and require us to take responsibility	268
Empowerment consists in the way we live: each choice is a direct vote for what we choose	269
Politics as a wider vision that describes what our community is meant to become	272
Friendship as a link: being truthfully who we are and accepting others as authentic beings	273
09 – The search for a “new” anthropology	275
Living in the truth instead of conforming to dominant values	275
Seeing the flaws of our own (individual and collective) perceptions and behaviours	277
The role of ideology, not as a totalitarian tool, but as a wider vision guiding our evolution	277
An urgent need to protect recessive feminine (Yin) values and attitudes	279
Femininity (Yin) as a necessary complement to dominating masculine (Yang) values	280
Gender issues and the present unisex model as hindrances to the true expression of gender identity	281
Our experience of life is rooted in our respective gender experiences (or differences)	282
A new anthropology – our endless search for the meaning of life	287
The search for meaning (not the answers) generates the right attitude	287

The solution is simple

Chapter 8: Between spirit and matter	289
Preliminary remarks	289
Two great inversions of institutional religious thinking: starting from beliefs and representing God as distinct/distant	292
A spiritual approach based on observation and experience	296
A turn-around of mind at double cost	300
Beyond first appearances	300
10 – The great contradiction	302
Myths and metaphors	302
The three worlds	303
The great contradiction of materialism	305
The great dance of the three dimensions	308
Everything is natural; nothing is supernatural	309
The Trinity and the anti-trinity	310
11 – A radical change of perspective, leading to transformation	315
The great transformation	315
A new interpretation of evolution	317
Matter and spirit: two sides of the same coin	320
Emptiness and relationships	321
The new hypothesis: love in the in-between	322
The corollary of this hypothesis: growth as discovery of love	323
12 – The loss of attachment	325
The further step	325
Immanence and personal relationship	325
A relationship with the Ground of Being oriented towards “profit”	326
His/Her will as our nature and vocation	327
Is S/He in charge?	328
The Ground as an everlasting quality of solid compassion	330
Attachment as greed	330
Attachment as projection	331

Detailed table of contents as summary of the book

Attachment as denial of time flow	333
Attachment to the false self	335
The great liberation	336

Chapter 9: Starting a move towards change 338

13 – Breaking resignation and passivity 338

Life is not a belief, but simply the practice of truth in everyday reality: choosing how to commit	338
Starting the move towards change; a change of mind, an end to resignation	339
The need to think freely and find the right words, in order to become free	340

14 – Our relationship with evil and suffering 342

Mimetic behaviour as a confused collusion with inertia and evil	342
The banality of evil: the enemy has come in slippers	343
Fundamental familiarity with evil, in our own lives	346
Our own search for meaning fosters our resistance to totalitarian influence	348
Do not resist evil; your own freedom and self-chosen powerlessness as the invincible force	349

15 – Truth and reconciliation 349

Nonviolence, forgiveness and reconciliation are the necessary tools for solving conflicts	349
A flexible, personalised strategy made of options we choose ourselves, freely and creatively	350